INDOOR CABINET GRILL: GROUP G

Industrial Design Basics

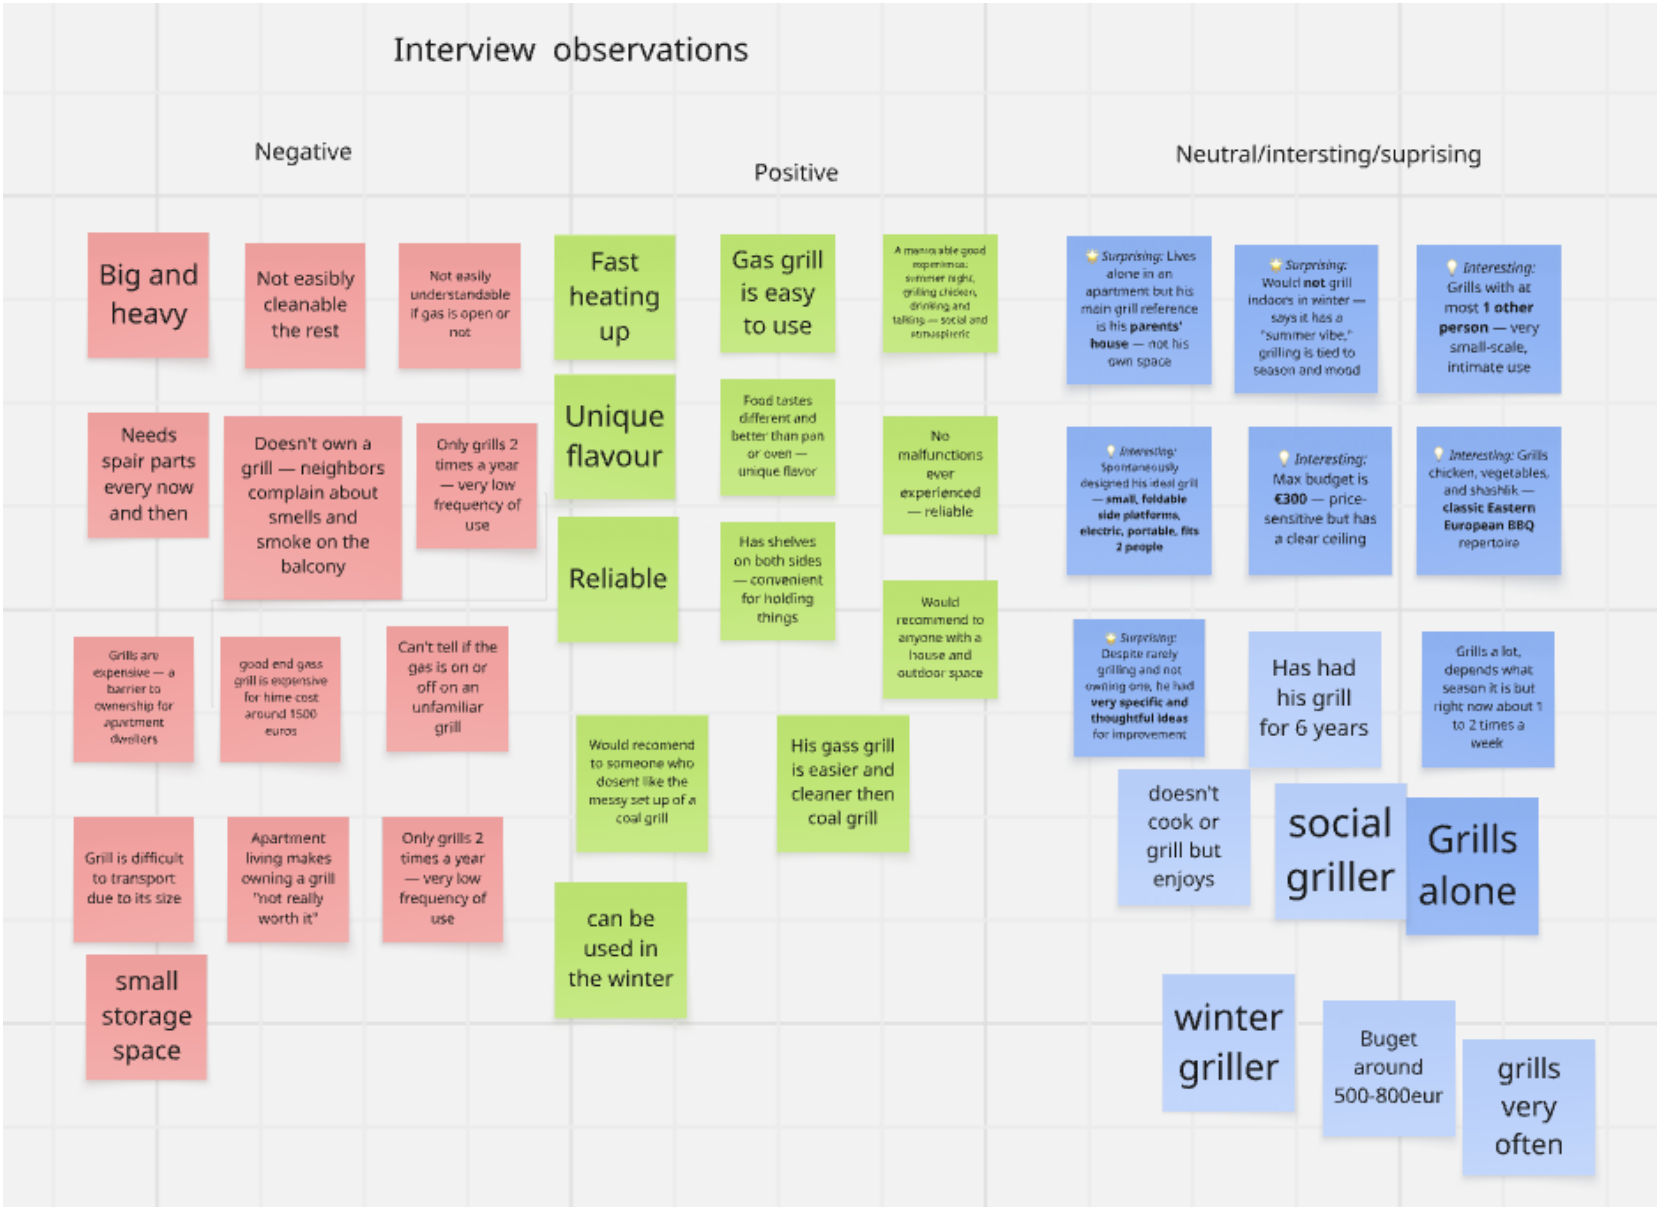

WHAT IS THIS GRILL?

Indoor cabinet-stored grill

Designed for urban apartments

Year-round urban apartments

USER RESEARCH

Interview with users

Existing grill experiences

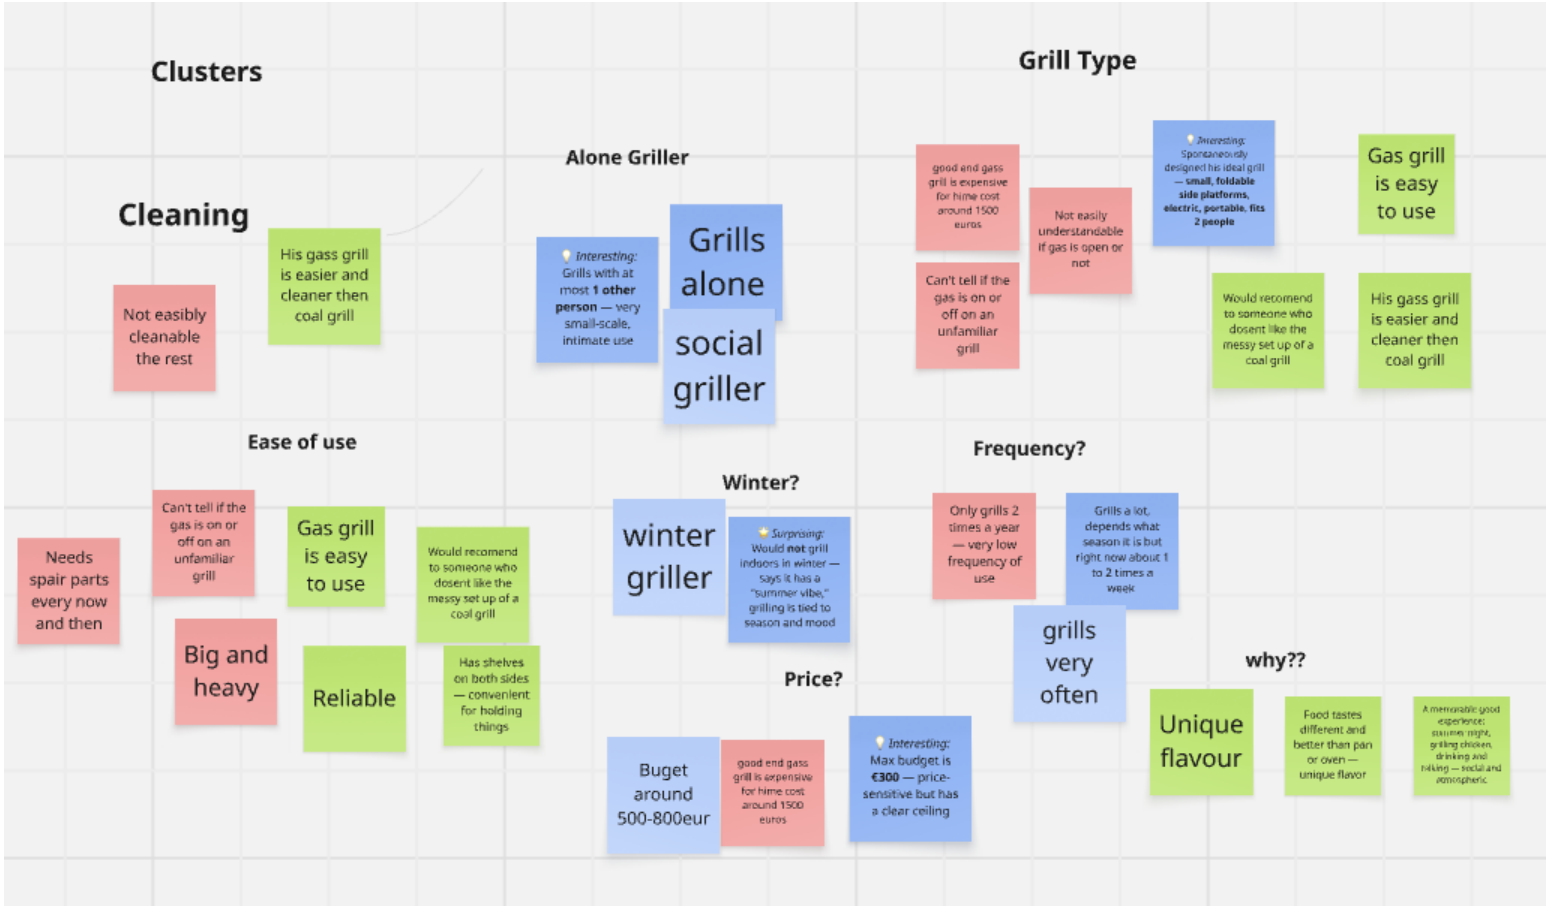

Behaviors over features

KEY INSIGHTS

Grills are hard to understand

Grilling feels seasonal

Apartments create barriers

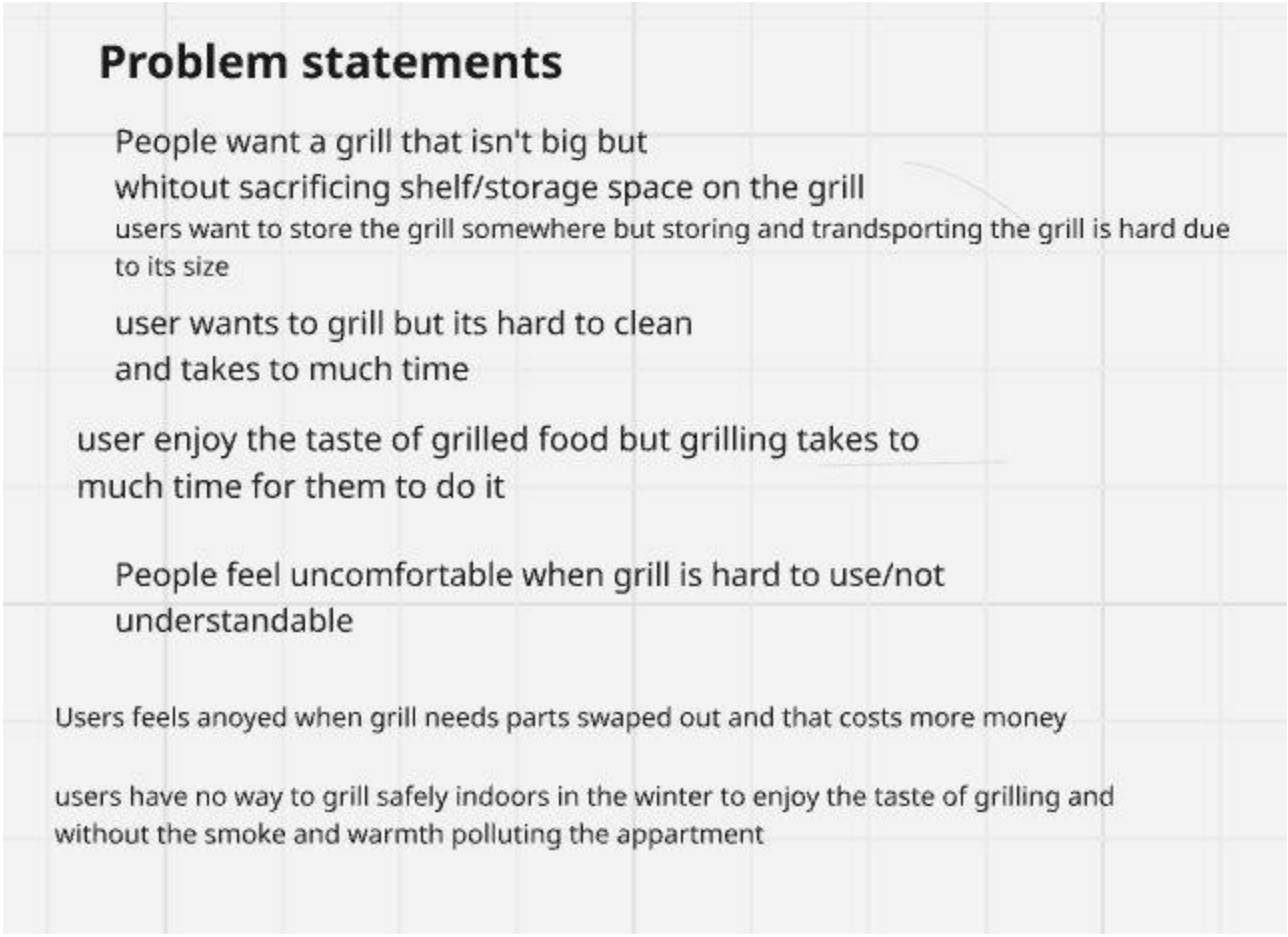

DEFINED PROBLEM STATEMENTS

Storage & Size

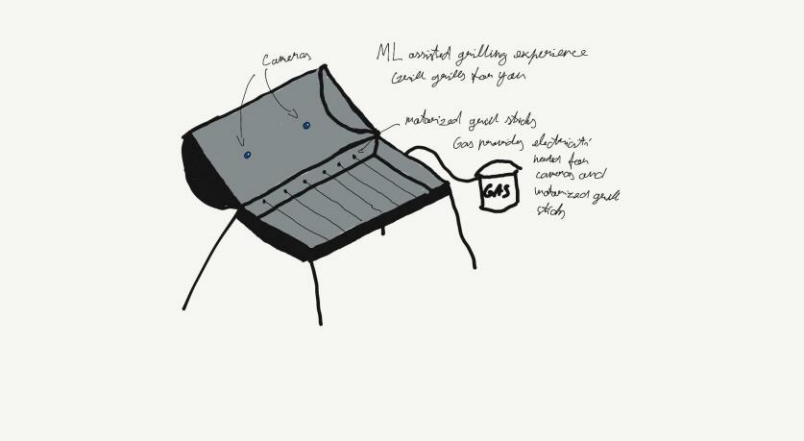

Cleaning effort

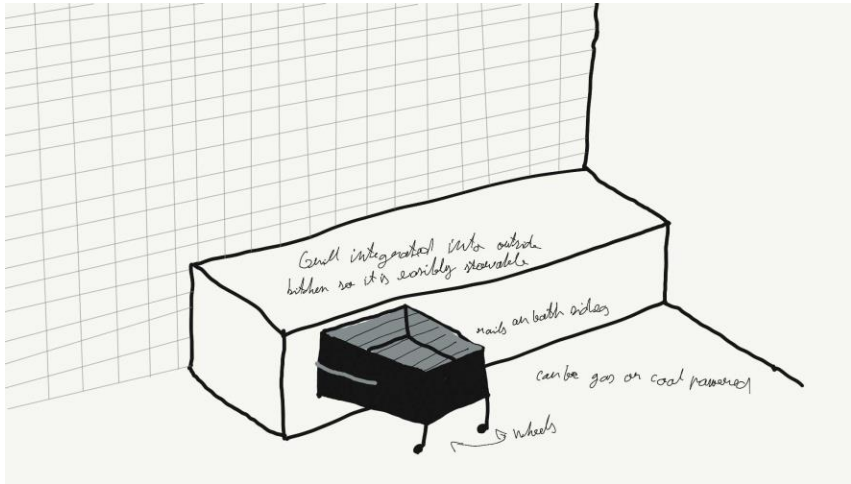

Usability & size

Limited Indoor winter options

CONCEPT GENERATION

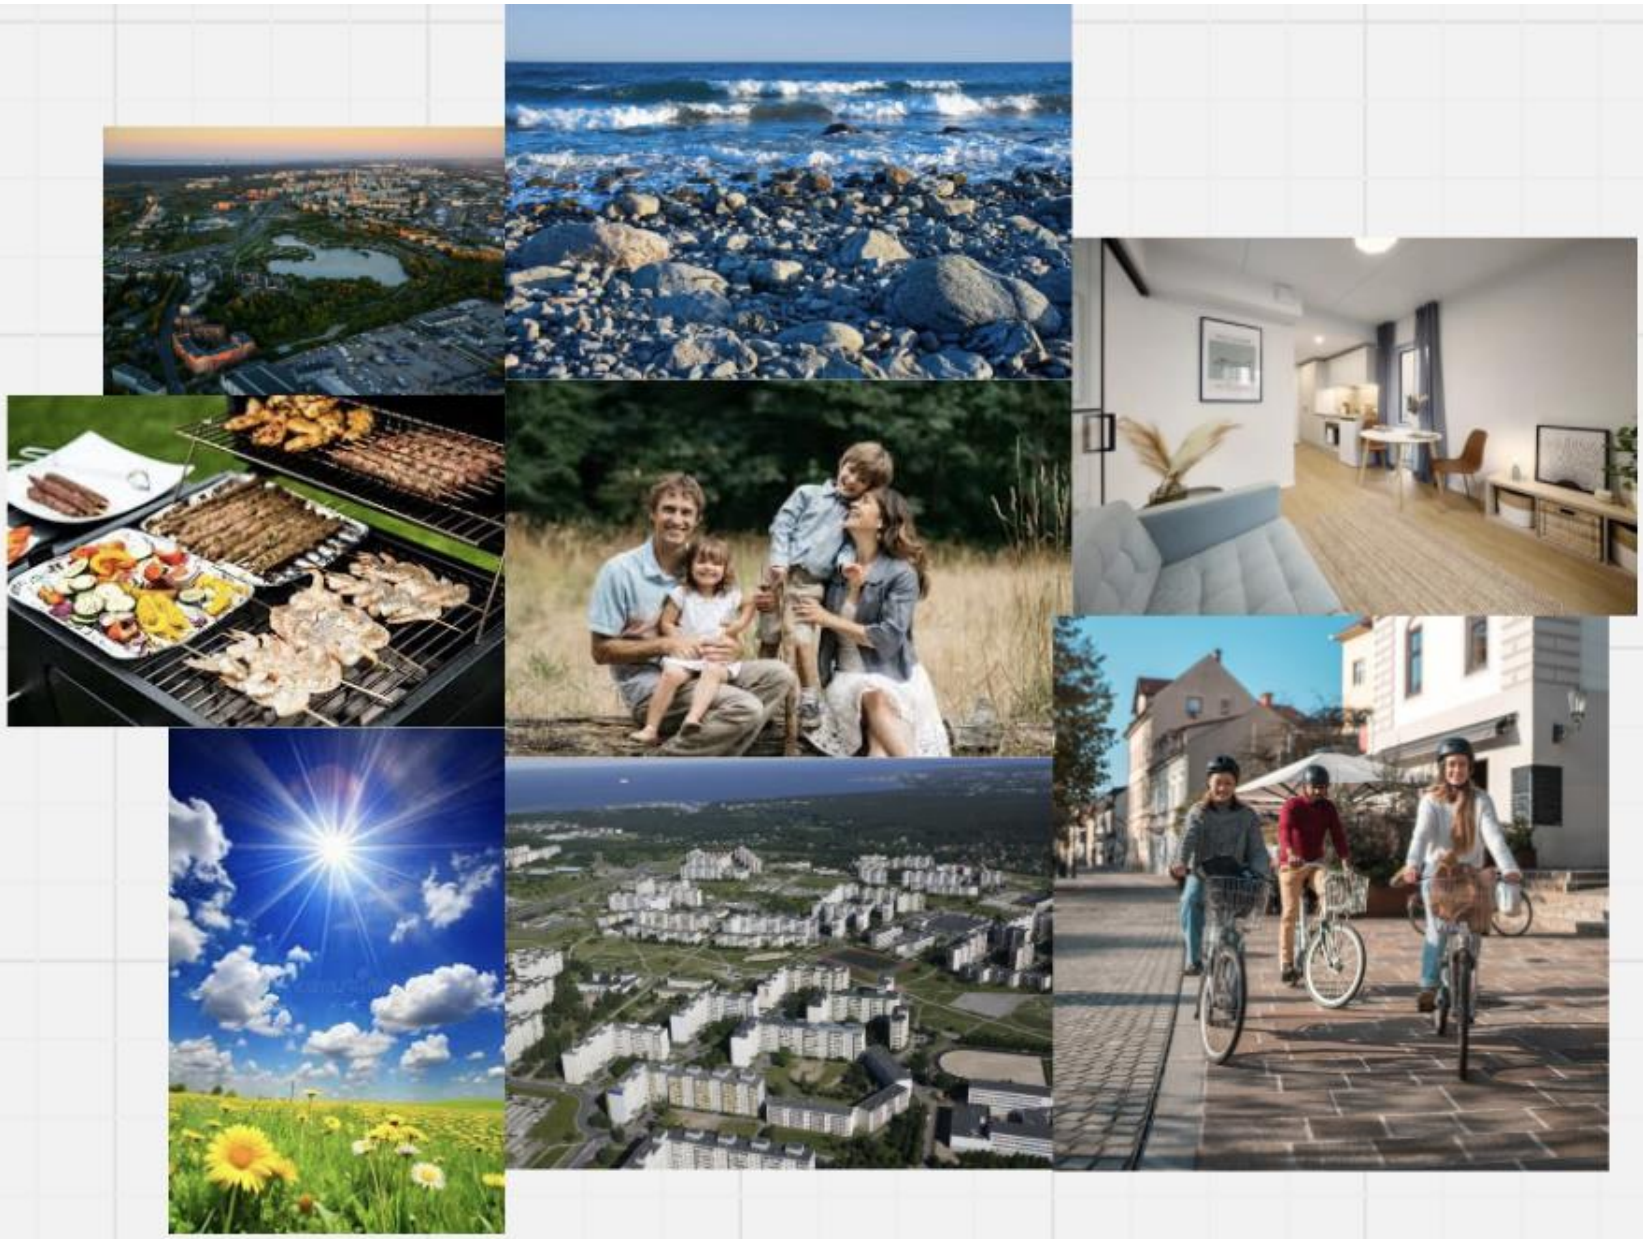

3 Concepts

Same User

Different Strategies

Criteria	Concept 1	Concept 2	Concept 3
Does it improve time	+	+	=
Is it easy to clean	+	=	=
Is it easy to understand	+	=	+
Is it for apartment homeowners	+	+	+
Does it have storage space	+	=	+
Is it easy to assemble	+	=	+
Can it be indoors	+	-	+
Is it portable	-	+	+
Most realistic to prototype	+	-	=

MOOD BOARD

Urban Living

Seasonallly

Social food moments

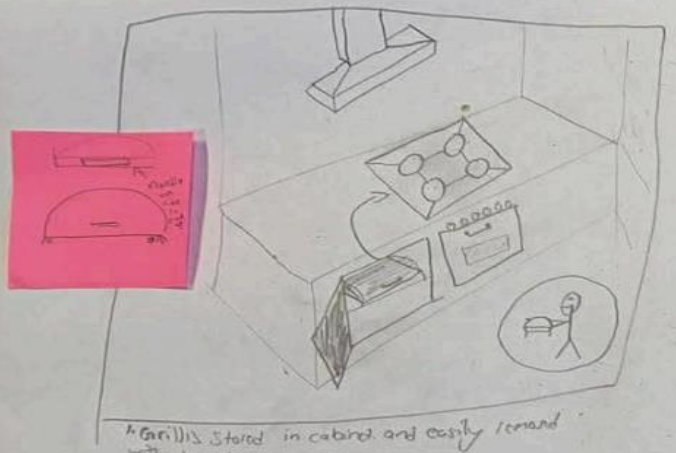

STYLE BOARD AND CMF

Professional Kitchen tool

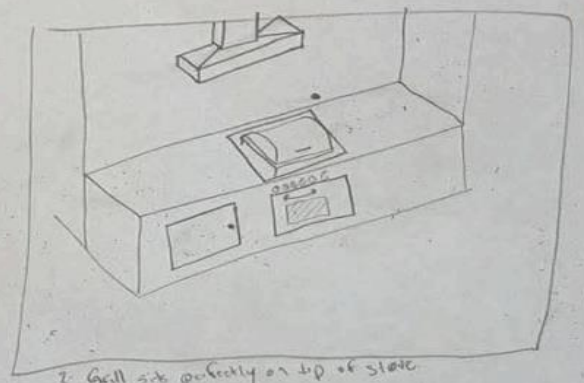

Industrial Materials

Minimal aesthetic

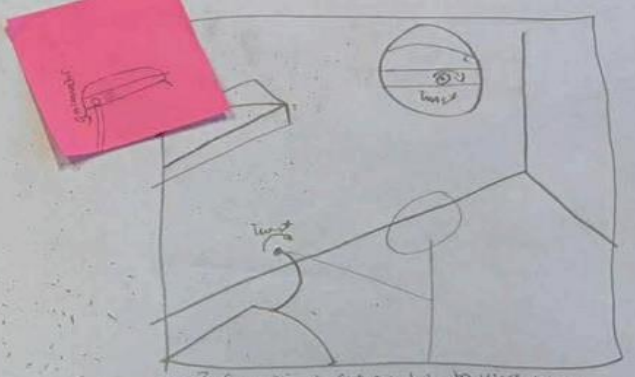

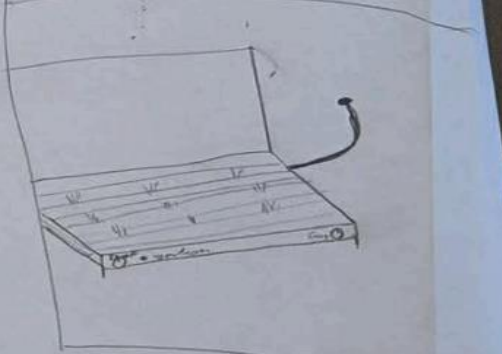

1. Grill is stored in cabinet and easily removed with handles on the side

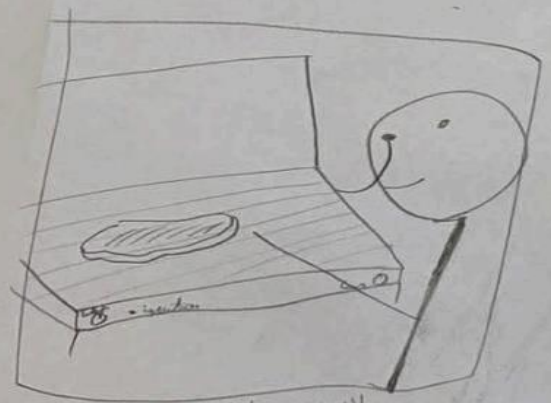

2. Grill sits perfectly on top of stove

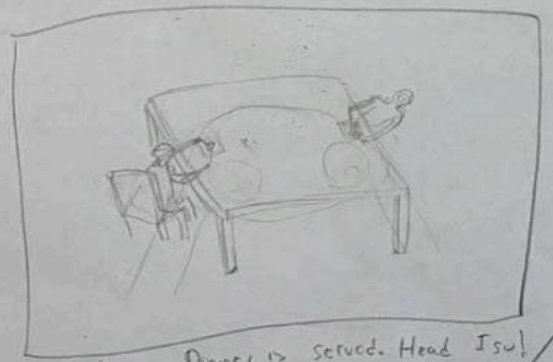

3. Gas line is connected to users main gas line

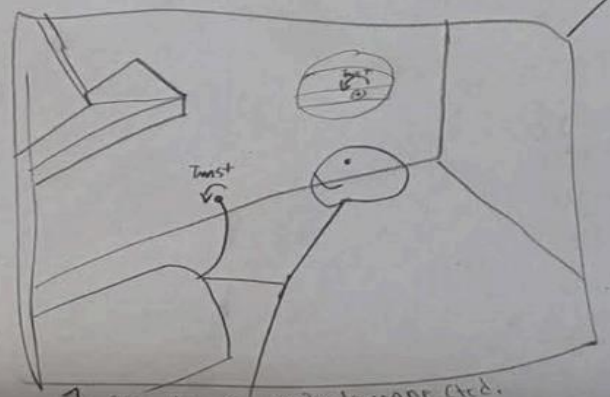

4. Grill is easily turned on with Knobs on front of grill. Left Knobs controls Heat Right Controls gas.

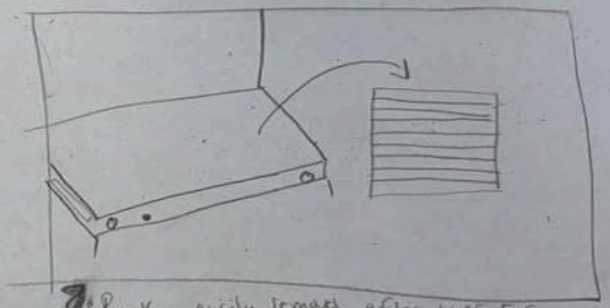

5. Food is cooked on grill

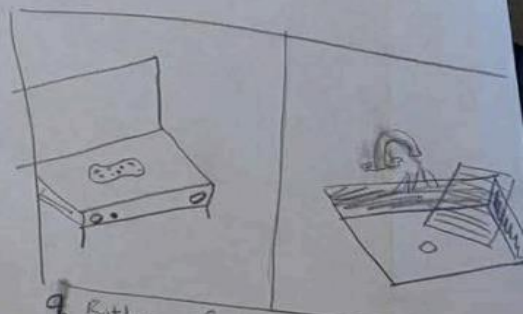

6. Yummy Dinner is served. Head Isu!

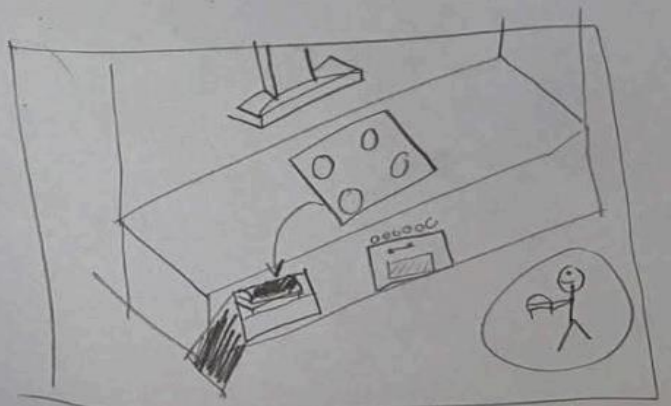

7. Gas line is easily disconnected.

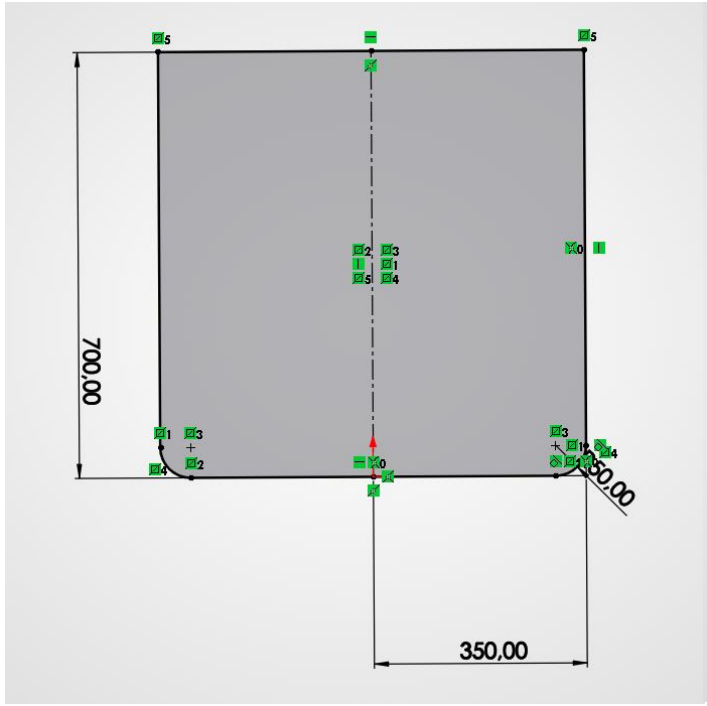

8. Rack is easily removed after user for cleaning

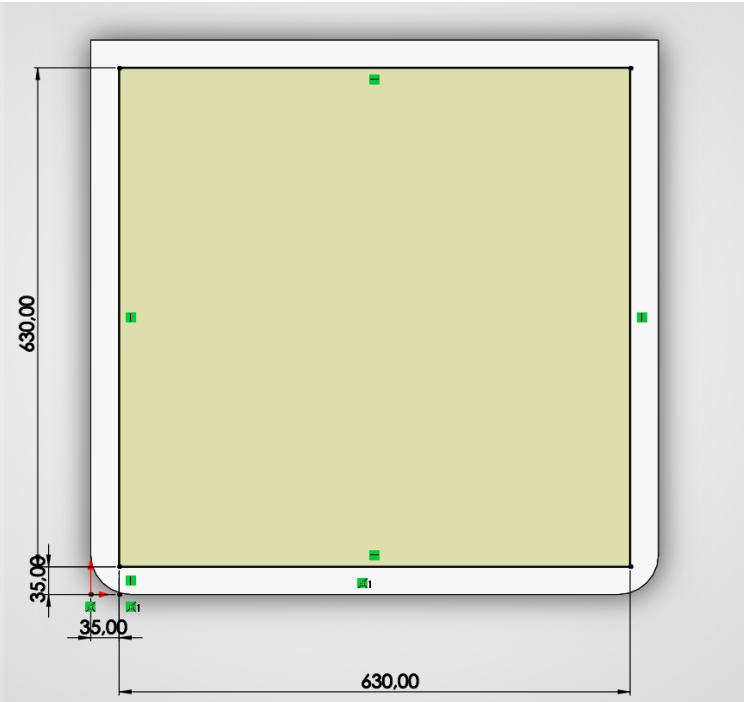

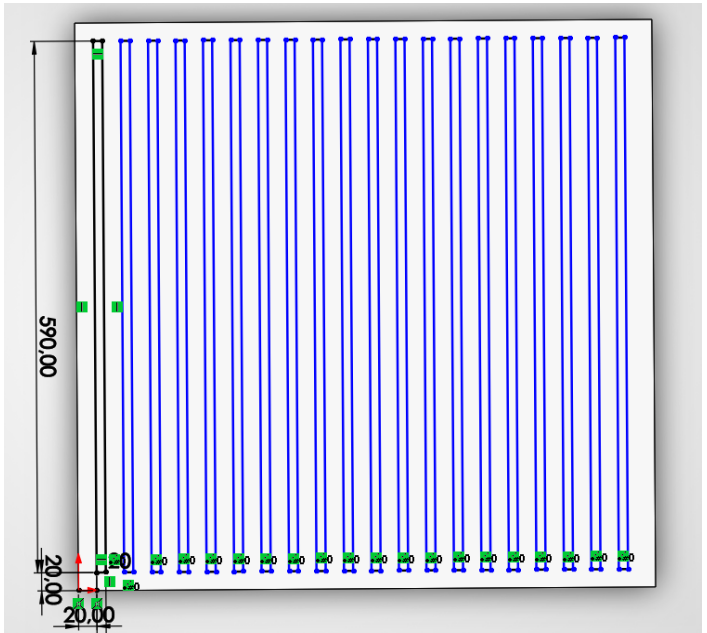

9. Button of grill can easily be cleaned with sponge + cloth. Rack is easily cleaned in the sink.

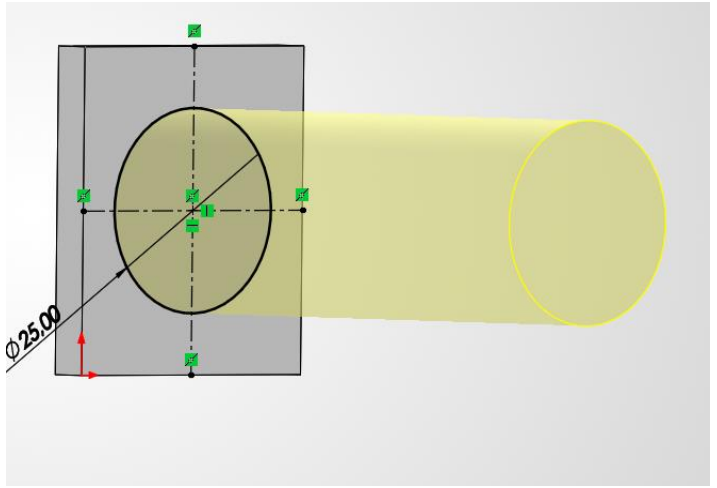

10. After Cleaned + used grill is stored back into cabinet

700,00
50,00
350,00

630,00
35,00
35,00
630,00

590,00
20,00
20,00

Ø25,00

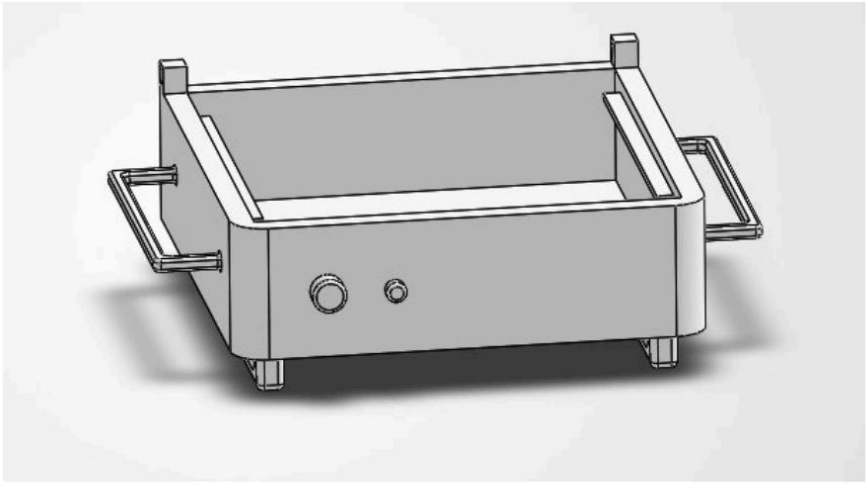

Figure 3 — Grill Body

->

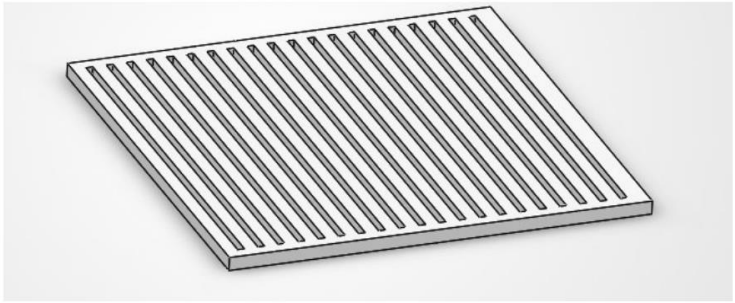

Figure 7 — Grill Rack

->

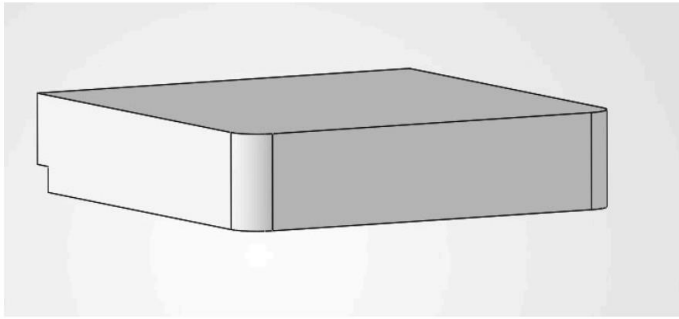

Figure 4 — Hood (Side View)

<-

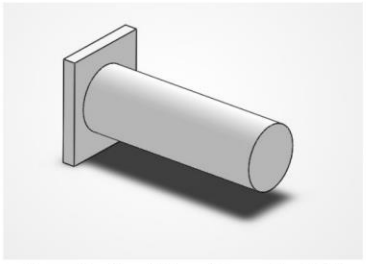

Figure 6 — Hood Hinge / Connector Detail

Figure 2 — Full Assembly (Hood Closed)

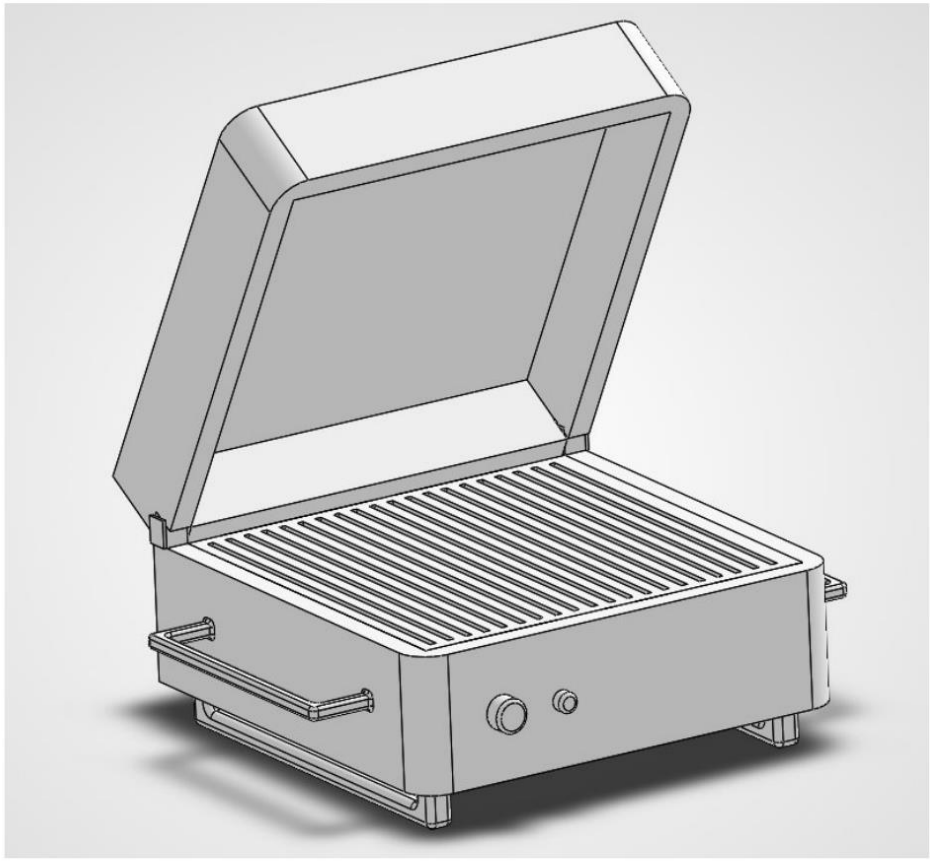

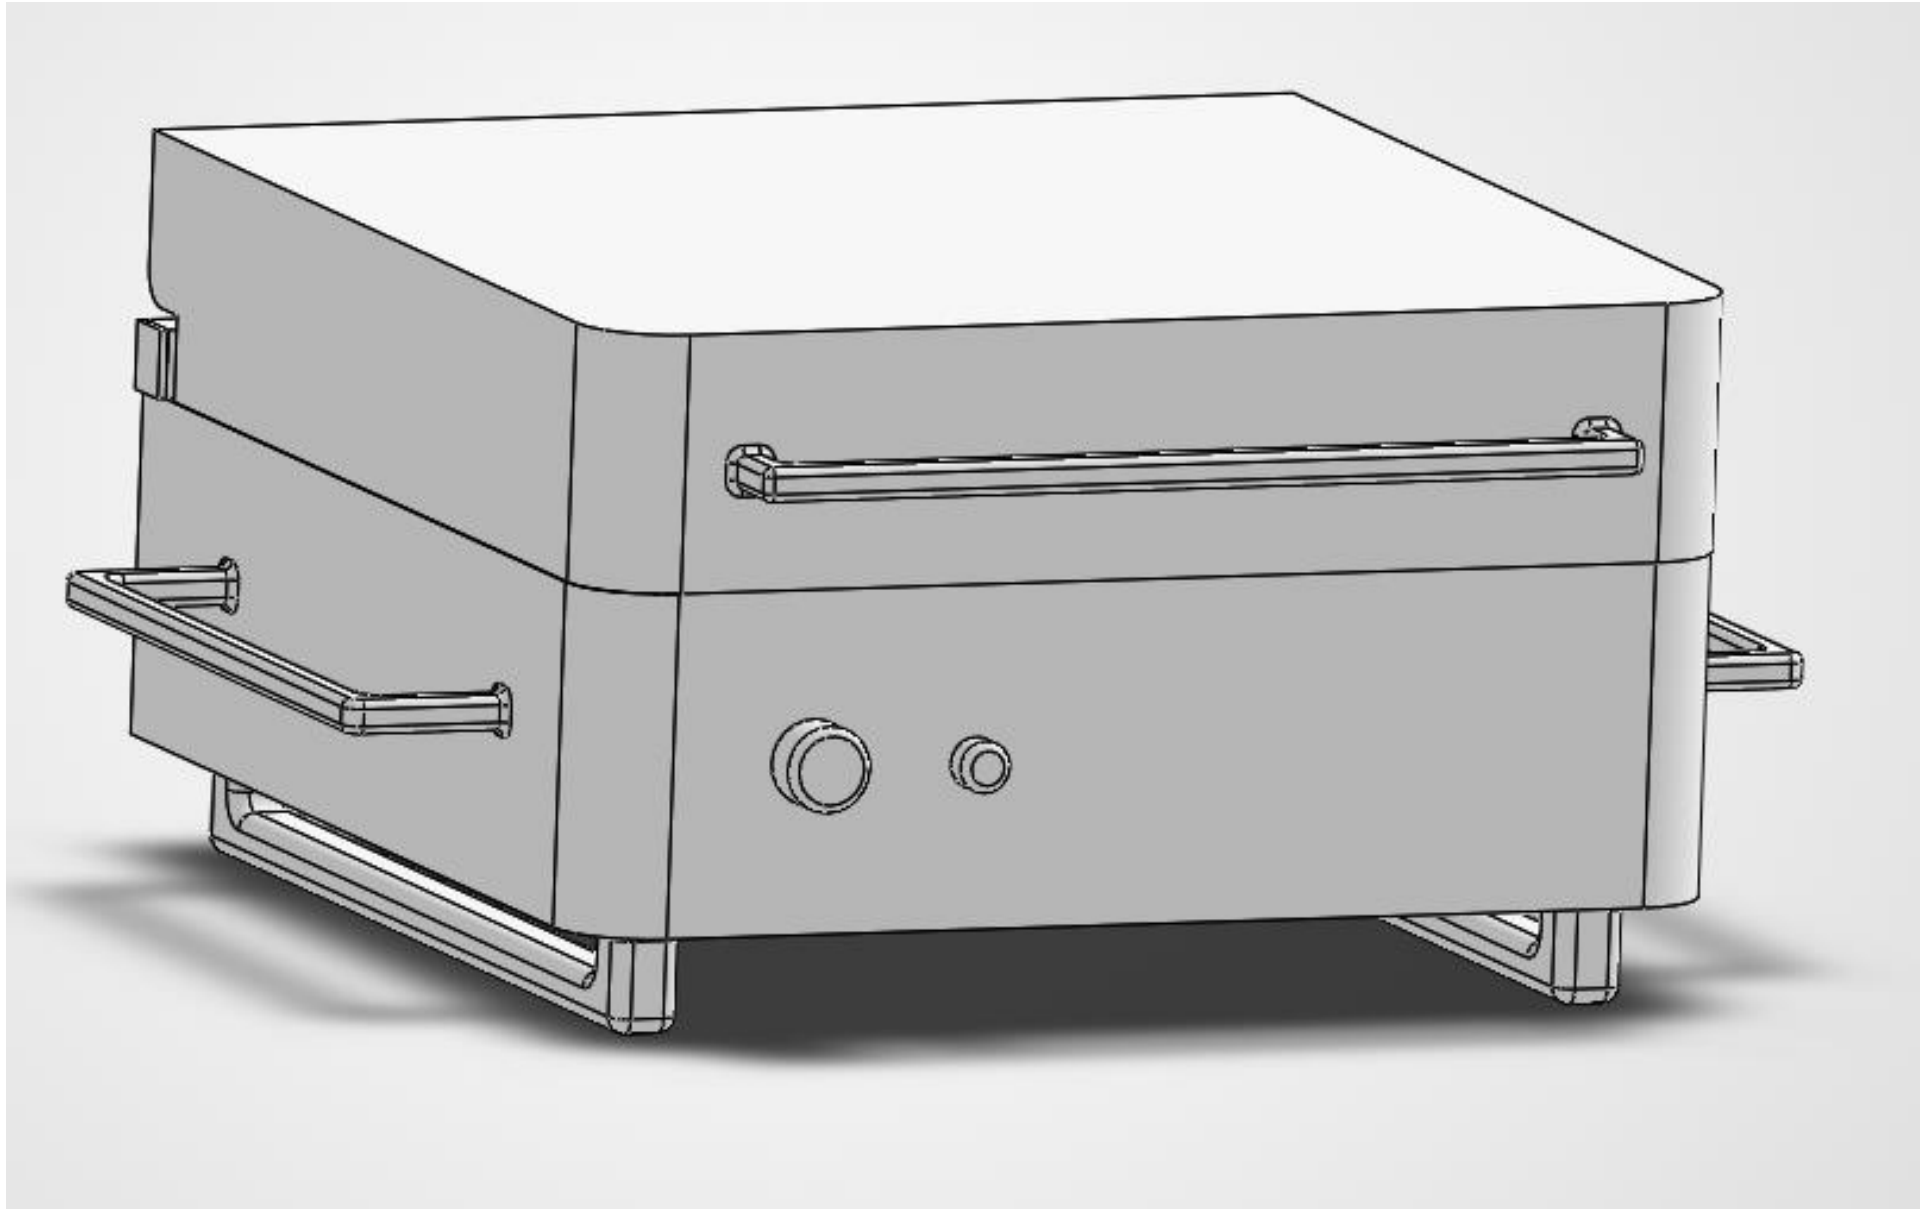

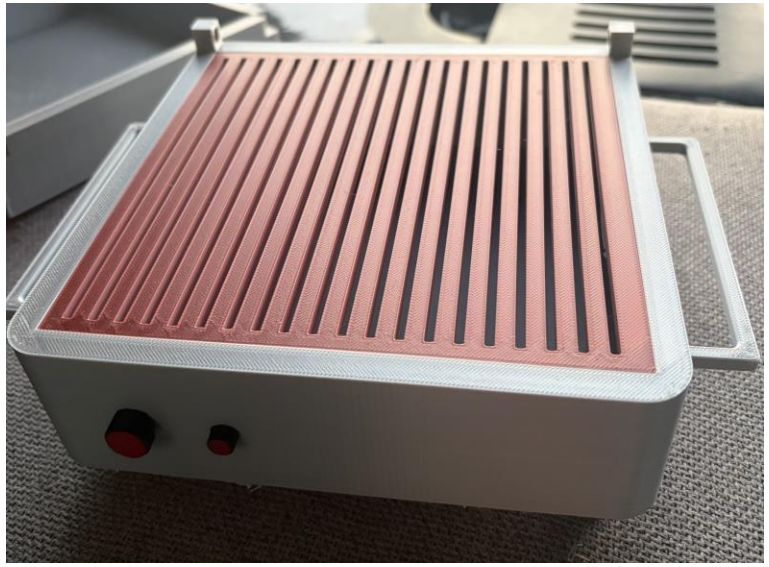

Figure 1 — Full Assembly (Hood Open)

ProtoType1

ProtoType2